National Independent Private Schools Association
The NIPSA Evaluation and Accreditation Program

PART I
Directions for the School Administrator

Accreditation is an affirmation of the school's commitment to self-improvement and educational excellence, and the process of accreditation is one of self-evaluation and improvement of the school program. The essence of the process is the self-study, in which all the school community participate and a site visit at which time a committee of peers determines the accuracy of the self-study and its findings.

The following requirements and directions are intended to give the school administrator and those in charge of the self-study an accurate idea of the criteria for accreditation of the National Independent Private Schools Association and how to successfully conduct the self-study and site visit.

Purposes of Accreditation:

1. To encourage improvement through a program of on-going self-study and evaluation.
2. To validate that the school has sound education objectives and goals, and is substantially accomplishing them.

Definition of a School

A "school" for the purposes of membership and accreditation in the National Independent Private Schools Association shall be:

1. A traditional academic school of any grades Pre-Kindergarten through 12 consisting of classrooms and other appropriate facilities, and that has an educational program consistent with the criteria set forth for accreditation. Students attend classes regularly and receive instruction directly from professional teachers and advisors in face-to-face interaction.
2. A combination of a traditional academic school and an online school is defined as a school that delivers a portion of its academic program online and a portion in a traditional classroom setting. This type of school must meet the standards for accreditation for both brick and mortar and online schools.

Accreditation Process for Applying Schools:

1. For schools seeking accreditation or re-accreditation:
 - a. Schools must submit application for accreditation or re-accreditation approximately six (6) months prior to the anticipated time of the site visit. If a school needs a fall visit the application should be submitted by February 15th of the previous year. For a spring visit the application should be submitted by September 15th of the year in which the visit is required.
 - b. All annual membership and assessment fees must be current.
 - c. The vice- president for accreditation or the executive director appoints a site chair.
 - d. The site chair and school leadership decide on the time for the site visit and the composition of the visiting team.
 - e. The school conducts a self-study and hosts a site visit.
 - f. The chair submits a report with recommendations to the board at the next board meeting. The board votes to accredit or deny. The successful school may be recognized at the annual meeting of the general membership.
2. The following rules and regulations apply to those schools that are new to NIPSA:
 - a. Schools make application for candidacy and submit the application fee. An informal site visit by a member may be required.

- b. Upon acceptance into candidacy the school pays all annual membership and assessment fees. (Schools that are accepted for membership after March 31 of each year will pay 50% of the fees for that year. Fees for schools that apply after July 1st will apply to the subsequent school year.)
- c. A school must be in its third year of operation to seek accreditation, and a school must seek accreditation within three (3) years of becoming a candidate. Schools that do not seek accreditation within three years will be dropped from candidacy.
- d. Schools that are already in their third year of operation may apply for accreditation during their first full year of candidacy
- e. Procedures for accreditation are the same as for schools requiring re-accreditation. (See a through h. above.)

3. Additional sites, satellite schools and wholly owned subsidiaries:

- a. The parent organization must notify the NIPSA national office, in writing, of their desire to accredit an additional location.
- b. An application for the accreditation of an additional site must be prepared for EACH such location and must be accompanied by the appropriate fee. The parent organization must certify that the school is under the same corporate management, that it operates under the same direction, mission, philosophy, policies and that the school meets the essential requirements for student safety, etc.
- c. All annual membership and assessment fees must be current for each such location. (See fee schedule.)
- d. At the discretion of the board and executive director and after an informal visit by a member, each such school may be granted a one-year provisional accreditation.
- e. During the first year of membership, the school must undergo a self-study. The charge for the self-study and processing is the same as for an accreditation or re-accreditation. (See fee schedule.)
- f. A site chair is appointed, visiting committee chosen and visit is made for each location.
- g. The site committee for each location prepares and submits a report with recommendations to the board.
- h. The board votes to accredit or deny.
- i. Successful schools may be recognized at the summer general meeting.

4. POLICIES REGARDING CANDIDATE STATUS

A NIPSA Candidate School:

- Has completed the application for candidacy and has paid the application fee.
- Has provided information as to the school's structure, enrollment, viability, etc.
- Has confirmed that the school conforms to the NIPSA Code of Ethics
- May only verbally state that the school is a NIPSA Candidate for accreditation and is in the accreditation process.
- May not post any certificate, or publish, or represent that the school is a NIPSA Candidate for accreditation and is in the accreditation process.
- May NOT state, publish, or represent that the school is accredited by NIPSA, until the school has completed the accreditation process, has been accepted by the Board of NIPSA, and has received official notification from NIPSA that the school is accredited.

5. Policies Regarding Schools that Seek Both Accreditation and Therapeutic Certification:

- a. Schools that have a therapeutic component or who describe themselves as therapeutic must undergo therapeutic certification in order to be academically accredited.
- b. All of the rules and regulations described above apply to all schools, including therapeutic schools.
- c. Therapeutic schools must apply for both academic and therapeutic candidacy, must pay all fees (see Fee Schedule), must conduct a self-study that includes both the academic criteria described in Sections II and IV – Evaluative Criteria, and a School Improvement Plan (Section III), and must host a site visit of peer educators and therapists.
- d. Schools that have been accredited by the Joint Commission, the Council on Accreditation (COA) or the Commission for the Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF) MAY be exempt from conducting the self-study and therapeutic site visit if their status is approved and verified by the Vice-President for Special Schools of NIPSA. However, they will still be required to pay all dues, fees and assessments required of therapeutic schools.

6. Policies regarding schools seeking joint accreditation with other accrediting organizations or associations.

a. A school may seek joint accreditation with another approved accrediting body. NIPSA has joint accrediting procedures with AdvancED, which includes the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Accreditation and School Improvement (SACS CASI), the North Central Association Commission on Accreditation and School Improvement (NCA CASI) and the Northwest Accrediting Commission (NWAC); and the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC), the Middle States Association of Schools and Colleges (MSACS) and all members of the National Council for Private School Accreditation (NCPSA).

The school must choose to do their self study under either NIPSA protocols or the protocols of the other accrediting body. Policies for the self study, site visit and other policies will be dictated by the protocols chosen with the following caveat: the school must meet the criteria and standards of both agencies and must pay all dues and fees of both agencies.

b. The school must pay the appropriate fees as described in the Fee Schedule.

6. Early childhood education

Early childhood centers must meet all the requirements of regular PK – 12 schools and must meet or exceed the requirements in Section 2 (13) in this manual.

7. Recognition

Accreditation is granted for a period of seven (7) years for academic schools, five (5) years for therapeutic schools and, in the case of joint accreditation with other accrediting bodies when the school elects to use the protocols of the other accrediting body, NIPSA will accredit for the same period as the other accrediting body. During that time a school is obligated to report its status yearly. Schools that fail to keep their annual membership and assessment current, that fail to submit their annual report or that fail to submit their interim report may lose their membership and their accreditation. A certificate, recognizing accreditation, will be issued yearly upon receipt of the fall assessment fees. The official International NIPSA certificate and the National Certificate of NCPSA will be the only official recognition of accreditation.

SELF-STUDY – PROCEDURES

1. A Site Committee Chairperson is assigned to aid the candidate school. The Site Chairperson, together with the head of the school to be visited, selects the dates and times of the proposed site visit.

2. The Site chair, together with the Executive Director, selects the members of the visiting committee.

3. The self-study is conducted and should involve all segments of the school community. The self-study report should be a reflection of the observations of the administration, faculty, staff and parents.

4. When the self-study is completed, one copy is sent to the national office, one copy to the site chairperson, and one copy to each member of the visiting committee. These copies are to be sent at least four (4) weeks prior to the proposed visitation date. It is preferred that these copies be in digital form and that they be submitted by email.

5. After the visitation is completed the Report of the Visiting Committee is sent to the Executive Director by the site chair. Copies are sent to the Board of Directors, (who will become the Accrediting and Certification Commission when voting on all accreditations and/or certifications), and one copy is sent to the school, and one copy is sent to the school.

6. The Site Committee Report and recommendations are presented at the next regularly scheduled board meeting or may be distributed to the board members by electronic means, and the recommendations are voted upon. Successful schools may be recognized at the summer board meeting.

Evaluations:

Evaluations are ordinarily conducted in the final year of the accreditation term or interim evaluations may be conducted at the time of a change in ownership, change of program, change of location, special reasons, or for other reason that the board may specify.

1. The school conducts a self-study and evaluation of its total program, using as a guide the appropriate NIPSA evaluative criteria and appraisal instruments. All constituents of the school family, staff, students, and parents should participate.

2. It is required that a school improvement plan or strategic plan be part of the self-study. The school improvement plan must focus on the school's process of improving student performance and outcomes. A strategic plan, while focusing on all planning for the school (site changes, plant improvements, etc.) must also include a section on plans for the improvement of student achievement in all areas.

3. The school should allow six months to one year to conduct and evaluate the self-study.

4. A site committee chairperson is assigned to work with the school in its preparation of the self-study.
5. The site committee, made up of a minimum of two people visits the school to verify the school's findings and comments on the school's conclusion. The duration of the visit is one to two days or more depending on the student population. No more than two (2) persons shall be appointed to the Site Committee from one school.
6. An evaluative report, based on what the school is striving to accomplish and how well it is succeeding, is shared with the school by the site committee and is then forwarded to the Executive Director and to the Accrediting Committee. The report includes the Site Committee's recommendations and commendations for the school as well as the recommendation for provisional accreditation, accreditation, warning or probation. The final decision of the board is not bound by any recommendations.

Specific Directions for the Self Study

In order to guide the candidate school, the following directions and suggestions are made:

1. The administrator/owner has the right to refuse the person appointed as the site committee chairperson or the site committee members without any necessary explanation to the Vice President of Accreditation. If this occurs, a new chair or committee member will be appointed. However, once a site chair is agreed upon, he or she cannot be changed except for reasons of health or other unavoidable occurrence.
2. The administrator/owner should plan to attend any conferences held and any accreditation meeting scheduled during the candidacy period.
3. He/she should be familiar with the sixteen (16) criteria for accreditation and their respective performance indicators as expressed in this handbook.
4. He/she should have frequent contact with the Site Chairperson keeping him/her informed of the progress and an approximate finishing date.
5. He/she should feel free to contact the national office or the Vice-President for Accreditation for information and help at any time.
6. Should there be any controversy about the recommendations of the site committee, he/she should plan to attend the Board/Accreditation Meeting when the decision concerning the school's accreditation is given.
7. Should it be necessary to file an appeal of the board's decision, he/she should be familiar with the Process for Appeal and the necessary forms.

Criteria for Accreditation

A school shall be evaluated on the basis of the degree to which it is accomplishing its purposes and functions as outlined in its own statement of objectives and on the appropriateness of those purposes and functions for an institution of its type.

In addition, to qualify for accreditation, a school must give evidence of adequately meeting the following criteria that are established as general guidelines to determine the effectiveness of a school's educational program and services.

The school shall have:

1. General Data
Current statistical information is supplied.
2. Philosophy and Goals
There is a statement of philosophy approved by the governing body of the school. Goals and objectives, consistent with the philosophy, shall be systematically developed and reviewed by the administration and staff, and are to be shared often with the students and parent community. There shall be a continual evaluation of progress toward these goals and objectives. An annual report should be filed each year as well as an interim report during the fourth year of accreditation.
3. Organization
The school must have a clearly defined and demonstrable organizational structure for the effective implementation of the school's goals and objectives. This structure should specify: the functions of the administration, staff and students; the administrative relationship among these groups; and the limits of authority and responsibility.
4. Curriculum
The school must have a curricular program with a written curriculum guide consisting of course descriptions and objectives, instructional strategies, materials, and methods of assessment to provide all students with courses of instruction that are consistent with the school's philosophy and objectives and with the students' needs, abilities, and interests. There must be adequate instructional resources to implement the curricular program. The curriculum must be the object of continual evaluation and development by faculty, students and administration. This evaluation should be part of each annual and interim report.

5. Instruction and Learning

An instructional program that addresses the needs of all students, emphasizes active learning, and provides teachers and students with ample materials. The instructional program must meet state requirements for days and hours of instruction. Schools must utilize norm-referenced testing and assessments for identification of student needs and for curricular decisions. Testing data is interpreted to staff, parents and students. Samples and schedules are included in the accreditation self-study.

6. Technology

Technology is employed in a variety of ways in different schools, from offering online courses to students of this school or other schools, enhancing instruction by using a variety of technological strategies, employing online instruction provided by other sources, and providing direct instruction in the use of technology. Not all of the items in this section will be appropriate for every school.

7. Pupil Services and Activities

- Services: Pupil services that identify the need, interests, aptitude and goals of all its students and provide these students with adequate educational, personal, social and career guidance.

- Activities: Appropriate student activity offerings that supplement the formal and informal instruction of the school. These should be responsive to the students' needs and shall draw upon special skills and enthusiasm among students and faculty alike.

Schools adhere to the health and safety inspections related to their programs and local requirements. Proof of inspections are filed and included in the accreditation self-study. Suitability of the facilities for program implementation and safety features are also included in the accreditation self-study. NIPSA schools must meet all federal, state and local laws and regulations that may apply to their particular circumstances.

8. School Staff

A well qualified staff of sufficient number to effectively fulfill its responsibilities. A degreed faculty member should directly supervise non-degreed personnel. Background screening is required and reviewed for all personnel. Requirements may vary from state to state.

9. Parent Community

A supportive parent community is encouraged to share its ideas and recommendations and, when invited, actively participate in prescribed areas of the school.

10. School Plant

The school plant and physical facilities enable the staff to effectively implement the school program.. All school facilities must be in compliance with all state and federal laws, and must adhere to all fire and safety codes and regulations of the community in which they are located.

11. Finance

The school must have continuing financial support which is adequate to provide staff, physical facilities, instructional resources, and other support services necessary to operate an effective educational program. Budgetary planning involves those who are responsible for implementing the school program and services. All personnel should be covered by liability insurance.

12. Dormitories and Dormitory Life (When applicable)

As life in a boarding school is integral to the overall development of the student, the aspects of that life must be evaluated as part of the entire student experience. The school must exhibit that care has been taken to plan for and implement policies that provide for the affective development of the child in his or her relationships with adults and other students.

13. School Improvement

As part of the self-study the school will prepare a school improvement plan (SIP). The school improvement committee shall represent the school community and may employ a model that is appropriate for the school and its mission. The plan should analyze data from the self-study and other sources to determine the present state of the school and to develop objectives and action plans to improve student learning. (See the Appendix III for a School Improvement Rubric.)

14. Early Childhood Programs (When applicable)

In addition to the criteria described in Sections 1-12 above, the following criteria, particular to early childhood programs, will be observed. Schools should keep in mind that in many communities law often dictates the requirements for early childhood education. In addition to the requirements below, schools must meet all local, state and national requirements that may apply to their individual circumstances. Schools must also meet any state requirements for early childhood programs if the school is participating in a state-supported program. (See the Appendix for Standards of the National Council for Private School Accreditation for Early Childhood that must be adhered to in Florida and many other states.)

15. Special Needs Schools (When applicable)

Special Needs schools are those schools whose mission, objective, student population and goals require substantially different curriculum and instructional strategies. These may include schools for exceptional education of all kinds. Schools must be governed by the NIPSA accreditation criteria as outlined in Sections 1-13 of the NIPSA Accreditation Manual, Directions for the School. In addition, schools must adhere to all local, state and national requirements that may apply to their operation.

16. Health and Safety

The well-being of children is one of the most important elements of sound educational management. Every school must provide a safe and healthy environment for teaching and learning, and the school must provide evidence that it meets all of the requirements for health and safety in their local community as well as all local, state and federal laws and regulations that are applicable. Policies and/or procedural guidelines to ensure the health and safety of students, the staff, and visitors to the school must be implemented and are being practiced, and the school has plans for responding to emergencies and crises. Schools must adhere to the health and safety inspections related to their programs and county requirements. Proof of inspections are filed and included in the accreditation self-study. Suitability of the facilities for program implementation and safety features are also included in the accreditation self-study. NIPSA schools must meet all federal, state and local laws and regulations that may apply to their particular circumstances.

POLICY REGARDING REVOCATION AND PROBATION OF ACCREDITATION AND CERTIFICATION

1. The Commission on Standards and Review may revoke the accreditation or certification of a school or program or may impose a period of probation.
2. Unless another standard is specified, all decisions made and actions taken by the Commission, any committee or any staff member, shall be at the discretion of the Commission, committee or staff member.
3. The Executive Director or any member of the Board of Directors may present information to the Vice President of the relevant division indicating that a revocation of accreditation or certification or that the imposition of probation of accreditation or certification may be appropriate. The Vice President shall coordinate with NIPSA staff to take one or more of these actions:
 - a. seek and receive information from such sources as seem appropriate.
 - b. communicate with the school, program or other persons.
 - c. identify the issues or circumstances which are being considered.
 - d. request cooperation, information or documents.
 - e. provide to the school or program an opportunity to present such information or explanation as it reasonably desires to present.
 - f. appoint a committee of board members, with the consent of the Commission, to gather information, communicate with such persons and institutions as seem appropriate, or to visit the school or program.
4. The Vice President or the committee, if any, may at any time recommend to the Commission that no action will be taken in regard to the accreditation or certification of the school or program.
5. The accredited or certified school or program shall be responsible for any travel costs and related expenses incurred by staff, officers or members of any committee. The school or program shall advance or otherwise secure these costs in advance to the satisfaction of NIPSA. The school or program shall have no obligation to pay or compensate any person for time devoted to any issue.
6. In making any decision to revoke accreditation or certification, the commission shall apply the same standard it would use in voting to re-accredit or re-certify the school or program. Should the Commission decide that the school or program can correct or cure the matter within a reasonable time, then the Commission may vote to change the status to "Accredited on Probation." A decision to place the school or program on probation shall include the reasons the probation was imposed, the steps required in order to cure or correct the situation, and the time allowed for cure or correction.

7. All decisions of the Commission shall be promptly communicated to the school or program.
8. In reaching any decision, the Commission, officers, staff and committees are not limited by rules of evidence that might be applied in a judicial or administrative proceeding. They may consider evidence and information from such sources and in such form as they consider to be reliable and appropriate. The Commission may consider evidence or reports and may deliberate and vote in the same ways that it does when deciding to re-accredit or re-certify. The school or program shall have no right to a live hearing, to a plenary meeting of the Commission, or to confront witnesses.
9. The decision of the Commission is final. No rehearing or appeal is available.

PART II

EVALUATIVE CRITERIA FOR SCHOOL ACCREDITATION

A GUIDE FOR THE PREPARATION OF THE SCHOOL SELF-STUDY REPORT

When writing the report, remember to keep the numbering the same as it is in this guide for each section and for each item. Answer each question as fully as possible and whenever possible put the supporting material following that section. Descriptions and responses can be as brief or extensive as needed so as to be helpful to the school during the self-study process and to the NIPSA visiting committee. Two types of support materials are requested: those that should be included in this report and those that should be kept at the school for review by the committee. Both types are clearly indicated at the end of this section of the guide and as indicated below.

Please prepare this report as a Word document or PDF document so as to be able to send it to the various destinations as an email attachment. If there are many documents and you want to attach additional items to the report, it is also appropriate to send the documents in Dropbox. Adobe (PDF) and Dropbox are both available on the Internet and can be downloaded at no cost.

The Self-Study should be available for at least one month before the Site Committee visit. Copies must be sent to the national office, the site committee chair and all members of the visiting committee.

All questions should be directed to the Site Committee Chairman.

Before beginning the writing process, have a meeting with all people concerned with the preparation and list priorities of time and assignments. Be sure to keep a regular progress check on the Self-Study and time schedule.

Make your student and parent community aware of what you are doing.

You are about to embark upon an important process for your school and its community.. Once you have completed it, your school will never be the same, only better. Good luck and remember that we are here to help you succeed.

Please note that in the following criteria, items in Bold Italics and underlined are to be included in an appendix to the Self-Study Report, and items in Bold Italics only are to presented to the visiting committee in a supplementary file so that they can be easily evaluated during the visit.

DEVELOPMENT AND IMPLEMENTATION OF A SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT PLAN

The average size school in the National Independent Private School Association (NIPSA) is 201, and many are very small. The small size is often commensurate with the role or mission of the school. Often, the size of the professional staff may be under 15 teachers and administrators, hardly enough to form a large number of committees or to have the time to do extensive research on test scores and other aspects of student achievement. It is clear that there needs to be a method of creating the School Improvement Plan (SIP) that does not completely divert the attention of the staff from their primary responsibility - teaching children. However, there is much that can be done to develop an SIP that reflects the unique nature of the private school and the important role that it may play in the success of children.

The following pages outline a suggested and preferred method for creating a plan the streamlines the process, yet creates a meaningful plan to guide the growth and development of the school's academic program. It is suggested that this planning process be integrative to (not separate from) the self-study that is normally required for accreditation and that is the basis for the site visit by a committee of peers.

STEPS IN CREATING THE PLAN – AN OUTLINE

The following are the milestones that should be completed in developing the plan. Each of these will be discussed in the pages that follow.

- Development of a vision and core values
- Creation of the mission statement
- Assignment of tasks
- Analysis of external and internal factors affecting the school
- Identification of strengths and weaknesses of the school
- Identify & prioritize areas needing improvement
- Identify measurable objectives
- Identify strategies for improvement
- Create action plans
- Implement the plans
- Monitor, evaluate & update the components of the plan
- Create the annual report

I. DEVELOPMENT OF A VISION AND THE CORE VALUES OF THE SCHOOL

"There's nothing more demoralizing than a leader who can't clearly articulate why we're doing what we're doing." --James Kouzes and Barry Posner

Most educators have in their minds a vision for what constitutes the effective education of young people. Ideas have developed during their time in the classroom, on the athletic fields and in the role of administrator. Very often these ideas are somewhat vague, more akin to "gut feelings." When an educator decides to start a school because he or she wants to "do it right", he or she has probably developed a fairly strong idea about what that school should look like – and feel like. But often they have never put their ideas on to paper. The school improvement process is a chance to do just that.

The vision for a proprietary school is an expression of the passions and expectations of the owner who undertakes the awesome task of building a school from an idea. That idea is the vision, and it is the responsibility of the proprietor to articulate that vision to all the school community. Failure to communicate these beliefs will insure that the vision is never reached.

These are the fundamentals necessary for a vision that excites and motivates people to follow the leader. The vision must:

- Clearly set the organizational direction and purpose;
- Inspire loyalty and caring through the involvement of the entire school community;
- Display and reflect the unique strengths, culture, values, beliefs and direction of the school;
- Inspire enthusiasm, belief, commitment and excitement in all stakeholders;
- Help employees believe that they are part of something bigger than themselves and their daily work;
- Be regularly communicated and shared;
- Challenge people to outdo themselves, to stretch and reach.

II. CREATION OF THE MISSION STATEMENT

The school's mission statement should be a clear, brief and precise statement of the school's purpose and it should follow from and amplify clearly the vision of the school's management. It might incorporate socially meaningful and measurable criteria addressing concepts such as the moral and ethical beliefs of the school, the public image, the population to be served, the expected outcomes, and expectations for the future. The mission statement should guide the daily activities of the entire school community and be an integral part of everyone's motivation. The statement might be broad enough to express a broad view of the school's mission, or it may be a specific statement of what the school is trying to do for its students and community.

Sample Mission Statements:

The Elephant Sanctuary: "A Natural-Habitat Refuge Where Sick, Old and Needy Elephants Can Once Again Walk The Earth In Peace and Dignity." This is a powerful statement that evokes emotion and instant attachment to the cause of this organization.

Sun Microsystems: "Solve complex network computing problems for governments, enterprises, and service providers."

Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream: "To make, distribute & sell the finest quality all natural ice cream & euphoric concoctions with a continued commitment to incorporating wholesome, natural ingredients and promoting business practices that respect the Earth and the Environment."

Conclusion

So, when you are preparing your Mission Statement remember to make it clear and succinct, incorporating socially meaningful and measurable criteria and consider approaching it from a grand scale. As you create your Mission Statement consider including some or all of the following concepts.

- The moral/ethical position of the school
- The desired public image
- A description of the population served
- The educational philosophy
- The geographical area served
- Expectations for the future

III. ASSIGNING TASKS

The best way to create your SIP is to include as many of the school's faculty and staff as practical, and to include members of the student body and the parental community. However, this is not always possible in every school. The very large school will want to create an efficient way to address the process, and it may not be efficient to include everyone – a limited number of teams may be much more useful. However, efforts should be made to elicit input from all segments of the school population. The small school has a different challenge: there may be too few to create large teams. Individuals may need to take multiple roles in order to prepare the report.

The way the tasks are allocated will most likely depend upon the areas that the school decides to focus upon to bring about student growth in achievement and an improvement in the educational process.

IV. ANALYSIS OF EXTERNAL FACTORS AFFECTING THE SCHOOL

Some of the elements that are important to a school cannot be controlled by the school. However it is vital that the school be aware of the forces at work in the environment that may critically affect the school and its future. Here are just a few of the areas that should be investigated:

- The Changing Social Context – for instance, the vanishing middle class, growing population diversity, new economic realities, single parent families, crime
- The Growth of the Technological World – the effect of virtual education, electronic publishing, too much information, the internet, twitter, texting, iPods ...
- The Fragile Physical Environment – global warming, climate change, rethinking nature, humans and human nature
- The Economic Environment – Recession, depression, trade deficits, local taxation, federal deficits, job losses.
- The Political Environment – The national curriculum and assessment, accreditation, teacher qualifications, school funding policies, vouchers.

This is just a partial list and there may be more specific issues that exist for your school, but if these issues affect your school and the ability of the school to provide good results in the educational program they should be addressed.

V.IDENTIFICATION OF STRENGTHS AND WEAKNESSES OF THE SCHOOL

Identifying the school's strengths and shortcomings is probably the most important exercise in the development of the SIP. Weaknesses are the areas that need improvement; strengths provide the strategies and methods for addressing the weaknesses. Here the school must involve the entire school community, for it is impossible for any one individual or management group to identify those areas where improvement may be necessary.

There are a number of ways that strengths and weaknesses can be identified, but it is important to measure how different groups view the climate of the school. Surveys of these groups attitudes and feelings will often give the school a feeling for those things that must be changed.

VI.IDENTIFY & PRIORITIZE AREAS NEEDING IMPROVEMENT

Once the school has identified those areas in need of improvement they should be prioritized. The school should develop a scheme to organize the needs into a form that can serve as the destination in the road map for improvement that the school is now creating. This can take many forms and can be organized around various themes, grade levels or subject areas.

VII.IDENTIFY MEASURABLE OBJECTIVES

Objectives can now be developed that will be the goals of the plan for whatever period the school determines if effective. The important aspect here is to make the objectives measurable. It is of no value to create a goal without a way to determine whether the goal is reached. Typically, when measuring student academic improvement the measure is the results of standardized tests. However, when measuring the effectiveness or a life skills improvement program the results may best be determined by other means: for example, number of detentions, students tardy, absences, etc.

VIII.IDENTIFY STRATEGIES FOR IMPROVEMENT

In order to reach the school's goals it will be necessary to develop strategies for reaching the goals. What are the specific measures that are to be taken to achieve the objectives?

Use SMART goals to develop your strategies. SMART goals are: S – specific and significant; M - measurable; A - attainable; R - realistic; and T - time-based.

IX.CREATE ACTION PLANS

Action plans should include a detailed plan and time frame for each of the objectives that have been established. The action plan should give specific directions to all the participants.

Always keep in mind that the focus of the improvement plan is better student performance and achievement in all areas. While improved facilities, better athletic fields and other improvements have a tangential effect upon student progress, the school improvement plan should concentrate on those improvements that occur in the classroom and in the relationships that are fostered there. Here are a few examples of goals that have been set by other schools, both public and private, that address student needs:

Academic goals – measurable progress in reading, writing, mathematics, foreign language, etc. The emphasis is on measurable.

Social goals – efforts to increase students' awareness of the feelings and attitudes of others through programs designed to emphasize mutual understanding.

Organizational goals – efforts to increase attendance, reduce tardiness, etc

Disciplinary goals – programs to reduce incidences of misbehavior and acting out.

Goals to increase teacher effectiveness (an administrative goal that has a direct impact upon students)

Progress toward these goals is capable of being measured and is therefore appropriate for inclusion in any school improvement plan.

PART IV

THE SCHOOL VISIT

The purpose of the school accreditation visit is to evaluate the school in the light of what the school described in the self-study document; in short, to determine if the “school is doing what it says it is doing.”

Research has shown that the best indicators of a school’s success in doing what they claim are to be found by visiting with the stakeholders - the parents, teachers and students. In addition, the committee will involve itself in evaluating the entire operation of the school and will investigate all necessary Criteria Areas described in the self-study manual.

IMPORTANT: The committee should be provided with an appropriate, private room in which to conduct its business. The room should contain the following:

- All supplementary materials specified in the Evaluative Criteria, Sections 2 and 3.
- Writing implements and legal pads.
- A computer and printer
- Table and chairs to accommodate the committee.
- Access to the www.

The following schedule is meant as a guideline and not a prescription. Depending on numerous factors the actual visit may take two full days or more. These factors are: the number of sites, the student population, and the number of members on the committee. However, every attempt will be made to limit the visit to approximately a day and a half. The actual schedule and duration of the visit will be determined by the site chair and school head.

TYPICAL VISITING COMMITTEE SCHEDULE

FIRST DAY	Activity	Location
2:00 PM	Visiting committee tours facility	School

2:30 – 3:30 P.M.	Committee observes school closing, after-care, sports, etc.	Various areas
4:00 PM	Committee meets to discuss visit, and write report. Chair clarifies any questions with administration.	Conference room
5:00 P.M.	Visit concludes. Chair meets with school head to discuss findings and recommendation.

In the case of large schools or multiple sites this schedule will be modified by the site chairperson in consultation with the school head.

PART VII

APPEALS PROCESS

The school has the right to refuse the choice of members for the visiting committee that have been assigned to them. However, the school must inform the Accreditation and/or the Executive Director of the disagreement at least two months prior to the scheduled visit. Without discussion or cause, the Accreditation Vice-President will appoint a new member or members.

In the case of a disagreement between the Visiting Committee Report and the school, the school has the right to appeal any recommendations or findings of the committee.

The school should fill out the Notice of Appeal Form and send a copy to the National Office. A copy will be entered in the school's membership folder and a copy will be sent to the Accreditation Vice-President.

The Accreditation Vice-President will then act as the mediator between the school and the chair of the visiting committee. The Accreditation Vice-President will note the appeal and the resolution of the appeal, and will present this information to the Board of Directors during deliberation of the school's accreditation.

If the school is not satisfied with the handling of the appeal, the school may schedule a time during the board meeting to present its case to the full board before any accreditation decision is made.

At this point the board has the right to:

- Delay the decision of accreditation until more evidence is gathered;
- Request of the Accreditation Vice-President a review of the Self-Study;
- Arrange for the visit of a mediating person to make a one-day visit to the school to gather evidence, at the school's expense (said person to be a qualified site chair);
- Reschedule the decision to the next board meeting.

The expectation that all processes will go smoothly for both the school and the visiting committee is the primary hope of the accreditation process. However, when a problem arises, the organization has provided this method of appeal to resolve the situation.

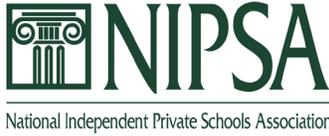

PROCESS FOR DEALING WITH AN INTER-ORGANIZATIONAL COMPLAINT

All complaints should be in writing to the National Office. When received, the office will notify the school and set an appropriate time for the school to settle the problem with the person or persons making the complaint.

Complaints may be made for many reasons. Sometimes a school does not describe a policy clearly, or has not lived up to that which the person feels was promised or inferred.

If the complaint is settled the school must notify the National Office in writing. If the problem persists the President may assign a member of the Executive Committee to act as a mediator. If this fails, the President will activate the Ethics Committee to become involved in the judgment.

The person who issues the complaint and the school will be given a copy of this procedure when a complaint is received. The National Office has the responsibility of tracking the procedure and in keeping all parties informed of progress or lack thereof.

Parent, Student and Patron Complaints

COMPLAINT PROCESS

1. NIPSA does not investigate complaints from parents, employees, or non-member schools as a public service. In the event that any person desires to file a complaint against a member school, NIPSA will advise the complaining party that the complaining party must execute and return an original waiver and release in favor of NIPSA. (Form 1). Any complaints submitted without the required waiver will not be acknowledged.
2. All complaints shall be in writing and received at the National Office. All properly submitted complaints will be logged into a master log, which includes (to the extent provided): (a) name of member school about which the complaint has been received; (b) name of complaining party; (c) date of complaint; (d) date of receipt of complaint; (e) whether the complaint has been investigated; and (f) final resolution of complaint.
3. Upon receipt of the initial complaint, the National Office will (a) acknowledge receipt of the complaint, (b) advise the complaining party that the information received will not be maintained as confidential, (c) advise that NIPSA is transmitting a copy to the member school that is the subject of the complaint; (d) request direct resolution between the parties; and (e) advise that pursuant to NIPSA's processes, NIPSA does not investigate complaints from parents, employees, or non-member schools as a public service. Therefore, although the complaint may be investigated, NIPSA may not disclose to the complaining party the fact of, status of, or resolution of any investigation. (Form 2).
4. The National Office will review the complaint to determine whether it meets the threshold requirements for investigatory action by NIPSA. Only those complaints that reflect information or contain allegations which, if true, would lead to a loss of accreditation (or a failure of a candidate school to receive accreditation), will be investigated. Matters that will not be investigated include, but are not limited to: matters that are already the subject of ongoing or threatened litigation; matters that are within the jurisdiction of governmental agencies charged with investigating such issues; matters that involve labor or employment disputes; matters that involve the school's failure to admit, discipline, or expel students; and matters that involve an employee's or parent's disagreement with school policy or the school's application or interpretation of its policies.
5. The National Office will then transmit Form 3 to the member school that is the subject of the complaint, which (a) advises of the receipt of a complaint; (b) encloses a copy of the complaint; (c) encloses a copy of Form 2; (d) encloses a copy of NIPSA's Complaint Procedure; (e) requests direct resolution between the parties; (f) requires a response in writing within 30 days as to whether the matter has been resolved; and (g) requires a response in writing within 30 days as to any allegations meeting the threshold requirements for investigation by NIPSA.
6. Upon written request, NIPSA may provide member schools with an extension of time to respond to the complaint and Form 3.
7. Once the member school's response has been received, the National Office will review it to determine whether NIPSA's accreditation standards have been violated. If the National Office determines that NIPSA's standards have not been violated, the matter will be closed. A letter will be sent to the member school advising of the closure. (Form 4). The log will be updated and all documentation will be placed in the member school's file.
8. If the National Office determines that NIPSA's standards may have been violated and that such violation could lead to a loss of accreditation, the matter will be referred to the President with a recommendation that the President activate the Ethics Committee for review of the matter. In addition, the failure of a member school to respond as requested by NIPSA to allegations contained in the complaint will result in a request that the President activate the Ethics Committee. A copy of the National Office's request to the President will be sent to the member school (Form 5).
9. The President determines whether to activate the Ethics Committee. If, after review, the President determines that activation of the Ethics Committee is not appropriate because NIPSA's standards have not been violated, the matter will be closed. A letter will be sent to the member school advising of the closure. (Form 4). The log will be updated and all documentation will be placed in the member school's file. The log will be updated and all documentation of the investigation and determination will be maintained in the member school's file.
10. If the President activates the Ethics Committee, the Chair of the Ethics Committee will determine whether NIPSA's standards have been violated and that such violation could lead to a loss of accreditation. If the Chair determines that the standards have not been violated, the Chair will report such determination to the President, National Office, and member school. (Form 4). No further action will be taken. The log will be updated and all documentation of the investigation and determination will be maintained in the member schools file.
11. If the complaint and response reflects what appears to be violations of NIPSA's standards, the Chair of the Ethics Committee will call the Ethics Committee into session to review the allegations and findings. The Ethics Committee may request additional information from appropriate persons. The Ethics Committee will then submit its findings and recommendation to the full board at the next regularly scheduled meeting. The Board makes the final determination regarding action to be regarding the complaint.

12. Possible Board actions include acquittal, warning, written reprimand, probation, or loss of accreditation. Notice of the Board's determination will be sent to the member school. (Form 6). The log will be updated with the final determination and Board action.
13. If the member school elects to appeal the final Board determination, a Request for Appeal must be submitted to the National Office within 15 days of the date of mailing of Form 6. The Request for Appeal form (and any attached documentation) and all other documentation already received in connection with the complaint will be reviewed by the National Office for a final determination. The member school will be notified of the final determination within 45 days of the date that the Request for Appeal is submitted to the National Office. (Form 7).
14. Should a school choose to drop its accreditation or if the Board elects to revoke accreditation, NIPSA will provide public notice of the change in accreditation (after final determination of any appeal).
15. NIPSA will remove complaints from a member school's file after expiration of the NIPSA's three-year records retention period, unless in NIPSA's sole discretion, NIPSA determines that the records should remain in the school's file.
16. Member schools may petition for removal of records from its member school file or from the complaint log. Any such petition should include clear reasons why the records should be removed. The member school must execute a waiver and release in favor of NIPSA (Form 8) before any such request will be granted.

NIPSA COMPLAINT PROCEDURE

PART VIII

APPENDIX I

BYLAWS OF THE NATIONAL INDEPENDENT PRIVATE SCHOOLS ASSOCIATION

ARTICLE I Name and Office

The name of this corporation is the NATIONAL INDEPENDENT PRIVATE SCHOOLS ASSOCIATION, hereafter referred to as NIPSA. NIPSA is incorporated under the laws of the State of California.

The principal registered office of NIPSA is 10134 SW 78th Ct., Miami, FL 33156. The corporation may also have other offices as it may determine or as the affairs of the corporation may from time to time require. The address of the registered office may be changed from time to time as the Board of Directors may determine.

ARTICLE II Purposes, Rationale, and Imperatives

Section A: Purpose of NIPSA

The NATIONAL INDEPENDENT PRIVATE SCHOOLS ASSOCIATION is organized exclusively for educational purposes within the scope of 501(c)(6) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 and as amended. Specifically, the purposes of the NATIONAL INDEPENDENT PRIVATE SCHOOLS ASSOCIATION include:

- 1) To encourage the academic accreditation and therapeutic certification processes, as characterized by voluntary peer recognition based on accepted and published standards of excellence, as an organizational witness of the credibility of private tax-paying academic schools;
- 2) To recognize, encourage and improve the quality and diversity of private tax-paying academic schools and/or programs of all categories, including preschool, elementary, secondary, special needs, language, tutorial, and charter, and whether domestic or international, by such actions as the development of educational and research activities, services, and opportunities related to accreditation and/or certification;
- 3) To engage freely in all lawful activities and efforts, including the solicitation of grants and contributions that may reasonably be intended or expected to promote and advance these goals;
- 4) To carry on other business related to the foregoing purposes and to have and exercise all the powers conferred by the laws of the State of California Nonprofit Corporation Act;
- 5) To provide a structure for the improvement of educational programs established to meet the emotional, physical, social and academic needs of children who attend an academic independent private school or independent program.
- 6) To establish educational and therapeutic standards for such programs and provide an accreditation and certification system to implement and maintain those standards;
- 7) To provide a clearinghouse for consulting services, conferences, workshops, and news of mutual interest;
- 8) To establish an educational program to support the goals of the Corporation and to present that program to the public, the media and appropriate governmental bodies;
- 9) To provide a mentoring relationship for other members wanting to open another private school;
- 10) To provide mentoring relationships for schools awaiting accreditation;
- 11) To recognize, encourage, and improve the quality and diversity of schools and programs that serve special populations or offer specialized education and services by such actions as the development of educational and research activities, services, and opportunities related to accreditation and/or certification.

Section B: Rationale

The NATIONAL INDEPENDENT PRIVATE SCHOOLS ASSOCIATION is dedicated to the accreditation and certification processes as a viable and responsible means of establishing a witness of program excellence. NIPSA is based on the concept of voluntary peer recognition; that is, the principle that institutions sharing common purposes and distinctions can effectively assist one another in achieving the standards for academic and therapeutic program excellence and in responding to their respective publics and the nation.

Section C: Accreditation and Certification Imperatives

The NATIONAL INDEPENDENT PRIVATE SCHOOLS ASSOCIATION recognizes that a valid and responsible accreditation or certification process contains the following elements:

- 1) Criteria. To be an effective and credible witness of academic and professional quality, the standards must be professionally established and published. These standards are to be readily understood by the clientele and sufficient to determine effectiveness based on sound educational and therapeutic practices.
- 2) Self-study. Integral to the accreditation and certification process is the opportunity to engage in a self-study process, whereby effectiveness is assessed based on established standards and guidelines, necessary improvements are made, and results are reported. Accreditation or certification will contain a self-study element and incorporate this element in its review and recognition process.
- 3) Site Visit. On-site evaluation is critical to the objective validation of educational or therapeutic effectiveness. Evaluation is to be conducted by persons with no vested interest, who have been trained and are familiar with the accreditation and/or certification criteria and procedures, and knowledgeable of sound educational practices. A site chair may be the owner of an accredited school or certified program, or may be his or her representative. On a site visit no more than two (2) evaluators will serve from one school. The results of the site visit will serve as a key element in the formal review and recognition process.
- 4) Certificates. Certificates of accreditation and/or certification will be grade or level and location specific.
- 5) Re-evaluation. Reevaluation is essential to insure that accredited or certified members are maintaining the level of quality recognized at their initial accreditation. To do so, the accreditation or certification process will provide for the periodical reevaluation of members. Each change in location, name, owner, program and addition or deletion of grades requires a one-day re-evaluation by one evaluator.
- 6) Loss of Accreditation. Loss of accreditation may occur with:
 - a) Failure to pay membership and/or assessment fees;
 - b) Failure to file necessary annual reports;
 - c) Failure to complete and submit interim report;
 - d) Failure to do re-accreditation or re-certification; or
 - e) Failure to maintain the criteria as set for membership in NIPSA.
